Bristol, VA-Named among the Seven Most Intelligent communities in the World for 2009!

The city of Bristol, VA was recognized for its' deployment of Broadband Internet Service and eventually named among the seven most intelligent communities in the world for 2009. Bristol has again been selected to be among the top 21 communities for 2010 by the New York City based Intelligent Communities Forum. Forum co-founder Robert Bell lavished praise on the city and its utilities division when he visited as part of a review for the Intelligent Community of the Year competition which Bristol Virginia Utilities participated in.

This is just another reason to make this area your home! We're not just beautiful - we're smart too!
